

Example of draughts problem making by Henk van der Heijden and Leen de Rooij on the 10x10 draughts technics site of Henk Stoop:

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/1779496922278455/?fref=ts>

(Rules: (i) place a creation for discussion, (ii) wait 48 hours before giving the solution).

Henk van der Heijden, placed on February 19, 2017:

Wit aan zet

(White to move)

Solution: 1. 48-43 07x29 2. 43x21 26x17 3. 28-22 17x28 4. 40-34 39x30 5. 35x22 01-07 6. 22-17+

Interactions between Leen de Rooij and Henk van der Heijden:

Leen de Rooij Thought of an arrangement on the opposition 1/11, in which it is difficult to give piece 1 a function. Unfortunately, the ending of this problem is not sharp. It gave thankful inspiration for the 1/11 arrangement given below. After 33, the solution will be clear. It is nice that later on 11 must played first, direct 34 loses.

Solution: 1. 38-33 27x29 2. 36x27 21x23 3. 30-24 29x20 4. 18x40 07x18 5. 16-11 06x17 6. 40-34 39x30 7. 35x11+

Henk van der Heijden It's my pleasure, Leen, the inspiration given. Indeed, my problem is not a 1/11, but an opposition 7/17 (or 6/17). Your arrangement is quite nice, that gave me again inspiration, this time towards an ... opposition 12/22, as given below.

Wit aan zet

(White to move)

Solution: 1. 38-33 27x29 2. 36x27 21x23 3. 30-24 29x20 4. 18x40 07x18 5. 16x07 01x12 6. 40-34 39x30 7. 35x22+

Leen de Rooij My objection to your first arrangement: after (1-7), white is not obliged to play as 22-18 also wins. A side-solution in the end ...

Leen de Rooij Your second arrangement is quite interesting, although my one is a bit more subtle as the move 16-11 is required to win.

Henk van der Heijden Your abovementioned remark, again, gave me inspiration for the following arrangement:

Wit aan zet

(White to move)

Solution 1. 38-33 27x29 2. 36x27 21x23 3. 30-24 29x20 4. 18x40 07x18 5. 16x07 01x12 6. 40-34 39x30 7. 35x04 18-23 8. 04-18 23-29A 9. 18x40 12-17 10. 40-49 17-22 11. 49-32+
A .... 23-28 9. 18x07 28-33 10. 07-34 33-38 11. 34-48+